

Kinney Center for Autism Education and Support, Saint Joseph's University

The Center contains a training room that will be used for seminars and meetings and also features a sensory perception room. There is also a resource library for parents and educators and classrooms for social-skills training.

Michelle Rowe, executive director of the facility boasted that the technology in the center is all “top-of-the line and cutting edge.”

Technology Designs and Services

- A/V Designs
- Technology Master Planning
- Program and Scope Development
- Architectural Coordination and Planning
- Touch Screen LCD for Interaction
- Streaming Video
- Video Display Wall
- Voice / Data Coordination and Infrastructure Designs & Planning
- Technology Documentation

